1. Qualification Information

1.1 About the qualifications

These qualifications will be withdrawn as of 31st July 2019. The last certification date for the qualifications will be the 31st December 2019.

The qualifications have been approved by the Office of Qualifications and Examinations Regulation (Ofqual) that regulates qualifications, examinations and assessments in England.

This suite of qualifications in Independent Living has been designed to address the needs of learners working at Entry Level and in particular those with learning difficulties and disabilities. The qualifications ensure that all learners are given the same opportunities to access appropriate and relevant education and improve their life chances. The qualifications are designed to provide a foundation for lifelong learning focussing on transferable social and life skills which are essential for living and working in the community.

The qualifications have been developed in collaboration with providers of education for learners with a wide range of learning difficulties and disabilities as well as professionals in the field.

Awards in Independent Living

These qualifications will be of benefit to those learners who are beginning their journey towards independent living by raising awareness and developing skills around issues that they are likely to face. Additionally they will also be useful for those learners who have already embarked on the journey and need to develop or further develop skills in specific areas. This could form the basis of a programme for those learners currently in sheltered or residential establishments wishing to develop their independence level. The awards are available in Household Skills, Personal Care, Personal Development, Accessing Community Facilities, Rights and Responsibilities and Leisure Activities.

Certificate in Independent Living - Looking After Yourself and Your Home

These qualifications are designed to develop some of the basic skills needed to look after oneself and one's home. The qualifications can build on previous achievement of awards in specific areas, but also allow for a more in depth look at some of the skill areas and ensure, by the rules of combination, that a breadth of skill areas is covered.

Certificate in Independent Living - Living in the Community

These qualifications are designed to develop some of the knowledge and skills needed to operate within a community, particularly in accessing and using services. The qualifications can build on previous achievement of awards in specific areas, but also allow for a more in depth look at some of the skill areas and ensure, by the rules of combination, that a breadth of skill areas is covered.

Diploma in Independent Living

These qualifications are designed as cumulative qualifications which bring together elements of the inward facing aspects of looking after yourself and your home, and the outward facing aspects of living in the community. The qualifications build on previous achievement in these areas. The rules of combination allow for more in depth learning in specific areas whilst ensuring that a breadth of essential skills for independent living is developed.

The qualifications not only contain elements relating to personal care and independence skills, but also elements relating to personal development in the area of self advocacy and making informed choices in areas that are pertinent to the individual's circumstances. This allows learners to develop these skills, which they may not have had the opportunity or experience of using previously, due to others making decisions on their behalf.

With the reform in the way that care packages are put together for people with disabilities, it is important that the learners have the ability to exercise potential new choices becoming available to them, for example Direct Payments, as well as having an appreciation of their own rights and responsibilities and those of others.

The individual needs of learners are numerous and diverse. In order to address this, the qualifications are designed to cover a range of areas. The units cover a variety of subjects to meet a range of needs for example; accessing the community and community facilities, household skills, interaction with other agencies and rights and responsibilities of citizenship. The units also include appropriate leisure activities designed to enhance the quality of life for learners through which they may find stimulation for further learning. The mandatory units allow for reflection, a review of the learning achieved and progress made towards living independently. They also encourage learners to plan ahead as to what further advice, guidance and learning they may need.

The "spiky profile" element of these qualifications allows a learner whose skill level in the practical area is quite high to still have the opportunity of achieving a higher level of qualification even though they may struggle with some of the core elements that often require more developed skills.

1.2 Objective

The objective of the Gateway Qualifications suite of Entry level qualifications is not only to give learners personal growth and engagement in learning but to prepare learners for employment, independent living and/or adult life in general.

3.2 Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

Recognition of prior learning is a process that considers if a learner can meet the specified assessment requirements through knowledge, understanding or skills that they already possess and that can contribute towards the attainment of a qualification for which they are undertaking.

Where Recognition of Prior Learning is permitted then the evidence must be mapped against the criteria for which it is being claimed for and be valid, authentic, sufficient, reliable, valid and current.

A maximum of 70% of a qualification can be achieved through the process of Recognition of Prior Learning, with at least 30% gained through new learning.

The process for claiming RPL is set out in the Gateway Qualifications' policy on Recognition of Prior Learning.

3.3 Links to other qualifications

These qualifications provide progression within the Entry level suite and onto Level 1 Gateway Qualifications' qualifications in Personal Learning and Thinking Skills, Employability Skills, and Skills for specific sectors, as well as directly into employment, including supported employment, and to other more personalised destinations such as independent living.

4 Assessment and Quality Assurance

The following are in addition to the standard assessment and quality assurance requirements set out in the Gateway Qualifications Centre Handbook.

4.1 Method of Assessment

The method of assessment for the qualifications is through a portfolio of evidence.

Assessment Opportunities

The initial and on-going assessment should be used to ensure that the learner is being offered assessment at a level that extends them without making it impossible to achieve. A learner therefore is not expected to be assessed at the end of the programme at the same level that they were originally achieving unless this is as part of a programme of ensuring retention.

The units themselves are not a delivery schedule but an assessment schedule. The content of delivery should be tailored to suit the needs of the learners whilst addressing the underlying skills and knowledge represented in the learning outcomes and assessment criteria. It is important to remember that the learning experience is not, and should not be, confined to the assessment criteria otherwise there is a tendency to provide a very rigid and ultimately unfulfilling experience.

Opportunities should be sought for integrating the assessment of criteria from other units into the delivery of a coherent activity. Natural performance of evidence is also an excellent form of assessment as it is more likely to produce valid reliable results. Obviously this approach requires robust tracking and recording systems.

In any activity, real or realistic encounters are more appropriate to ensure that the application of the skills and knowledge being learned are reinforced in the right context rather than in isolation. This is particularly true for these qualifications which are designed to develop independent living skills, and should wherever possible be delivered in the context of independent living. Whilst this may not always be possible or feasible from a practical or even a health and safety point of view, attempts should be made to ensure that any simulations are as realistic as possible.

Assessment methods should be used that are appropriate to the criteria being undertaken and in many instances this may be the observation or demonstration by the learner of a particular skill. This could be evidenced by witness statements, possibly supplemented by photographs or other visual recording methods, in accordance with current safeguarding requirements. Knowledge based assessment could also arise from oral question and answer or in natural conversation. The evidencing of this may well be by a tutor making notes of what was said or communicated and the circumstances in which this occurred.

The interpretation of assessment criteria should take into account the sub level of the unit (i.e. Entry 1, Entry 2 and Entry 3), as this will help determine the amount of support that a learner legitimately can receive in the performance of the learning criteria.

The compilation of evidence should be cross referenced to the criteria of the units for ease of assessment and verification. The portfolio of evidence would normally be done by or in conjunction with the learner and, although the content may be made up of witness statements and collaborative evidence, the learners own comments and input would be valuable not only to an assessor and verifier, but also to the learner themselves as a record of their activity and achievement.

4.2 Assessment Materials

There are no specific assessment materials provided for this qualification.

4.3 Qualification-Specific Centre Requirements

Assessors are expected to exercise their professional judgement in determining whether a learner has demonstrated a skill with sufficient independence and consistency to meet the assessment criteria for a unit.

Pre 16 Learners

In the delivery of qualification and units to pre-16 learners centres are required to exercise due diligence in respect of the following:

- the learner's needs and access to information and advice about the units offered and how the course of learning will meet their needs;
- the learner's present capacity to undertake the tasks set by tutors, and tutors understanding of how particular tasks accord with the assessment criteria for the unit;
- tutors should be fully conversant with the qualification and unit specification/s offered to learners, where clarification is required the centre should consult with the assigned Quality Reviewer for further advice and guidance in the delivery of units and refer to the Centre Handbook and Reasonable Adjustment and Special Consideration policy and guidance.
- centres will be required to have appropriate and up to date risk assessments and ensure that appropriate support and supervision is provided; appropriate subject specialist knowledge should be consulted where the possibility of harm to learners is identified; this will be monitored through Gateway Qualifications' quality assurance process.
- the centre contact for the unit/qualification being delivered must ensure that all procedures relating to the delivery of the unit/qualification operate effectively in the centre.

4.4 Qualification-Specific Tutor/Assessor Requirements

There are no additional requirements for these qualifications.

4.5 Qualification-Specific Verification Requirements
